Aylsham Roman Project Newsletter

Vol 8 Issue 2 2023

Christmas has come and gone and time now to look towards the new year. First, though, let's finish off 2023

Aylsham Show

We are again very grateful to the organisers of the Aylsham Show for including us in their charity hand-outs. We look forward to attending the evening in the New Year.

Tuesday mornings

Bad weather meant we missed a few Tuesday morning sessions on the field over the past couple of months. Not just rain but a soggy field as well!

Leading up to Christmas, though, we held three Zoom sessions, which, as usual, was a joyous, sometimes hilarious half hour! The date when we start again will be emailed in the New Year to all Friends. Let's hope we will have dried out by then!

Exhibition at Aylsham Heritage Centre

"Such an interesting exhibition about the Aylsham Roman Project....We really enjoyed our visit".

"Really fascinating to learn so much about the area's history. Well worth the visit!"

"Very interesting artefacts."

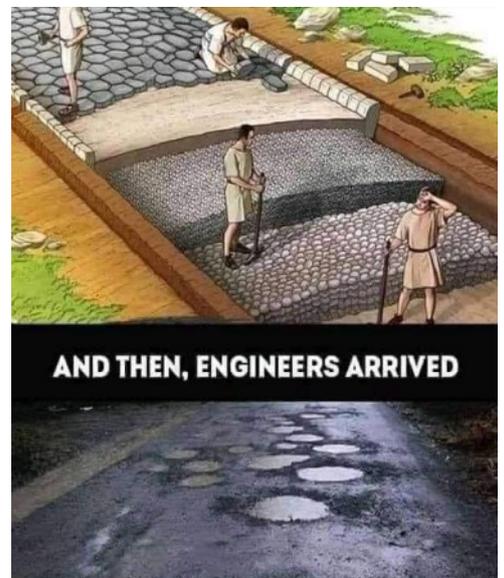

"Lovely display of the Roman dig."

"I absolutely love this exhibition. I think that it's even more special knowing everyone has taken part in finding things. (Written by the most enthusiastic 11 year old who couldn't believe they'd found the Heritage Centre by chance!)"

Comments written by some of the visitors to the Centre during September and October. Again our thanks go to Jayne Andrew for inviting us. It felt really good to be able to share with many of you what has been going on at Woodgate Nursery since 2016.

Roman Roads

Those of you who live in Aylsham or have come to visit and parked in the Buttlands car park may be interested in this image found on Twitter!

Did you know?.....Did you know?.....Did you know?.....
Notice seen at Woodgate Nursery

I cant remember how to write 1, 1000, 51, 6 and 500 in Roman Numerals.

I'M LIVID

All the best to everyone for the coming New Year
